STORY

Star Log, March 12th, 2533

Earth-3 is dying. We have consumed and devastated our planet, just as we did before. Now, this is humanity's last attempt to avoid its own extinction.

Planet ZMX-22 could still save us. Known as "EXO-TICAL" due to its exoplanet status and its unique and dangerous natural features, it holds an inexhaustible energy source from an ancient extinct civilization.

Many expeditions have tried before, but today the last ships will depart for EXO-TICAL, marking, without a doubt, our final chance.

May God have mercy on us all.

INITIAL TIPS

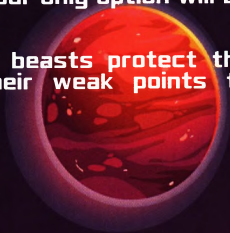

- Use the bases to save your Checkpoint. Upon death, the next ship will appear at the last base used.

- The Xenodactyl Egg is highly explosive. You can load it onto your ship for various uses, such as throwing it at enemies or opening blocked paths, but be very careful: if you fire with the egg loaded or it explodes too close, it will be your last day on EXO-TICAL.

- Don't leave the egg just anywhere, or when you return, the planet's creatures will have stolen it.

- Some enemies are immune to your laser shot, so your only option will be to avoid them.

- Three great beasts protect the planet. Find their weak points to defeat them.

Bienvenido a Exo-Tical, amigo.
Un planeta hostil y salvaje,
plagado de feroces Criaturas
Pero también un lugar lleno de Carinho por el Retro y los juegos clásicos.

Espero que lo disfrutes y lo
sufras a partes iguales ;-)

Un abrazo de Roolando.

<<Welcome to Exo-tical, my friend. A hostile and wild planet, full of ferocious creatures, but also a place full of love for retro and classic games.

I hope you enjoy and suffer in equal parts :-)
A hug from Roolando>>
